COMPILING ACCOUNTS OF ACTIVITIES DURING WORLD WAR

County Historical Society Wants Duplicate Copy of All Manuscripts

NO REPORTS FROM CHARLEROI

A list of reports of war work received from individual and organizations in Washington county by the Pennsylvania War History Commission, Philadephia, is contained in a letter just received by the Washington County Division. These reports are to be included in the Pennsylvania history of the war which will be published by the state. The people of Washington county performed a great work during the war, and it is intended by these various reports to record this in detail so that it will be available for all time to come. Full credit will be given for all material sent in.

Although a large number of reports have already been sent in, the story of Washington county's part in the world war had not been half told but within the next two months the local committee will endeavor to have the work completed, as it is the desire of the state commission to have all material in by that time, and all persons who have not completed their reports are urged to do so at once.

The Washington county division wishes to keep a copy in the county of all manuscripts in connection with this work. This is done so that it will be available for local reference. All persons writing manuscripts for this work are therefore requested to make a copy of the same, which will be deposited in the court house at Washington with the Washington County Historical Society.

Already reports have been received from twenty-six different organizations, churches and financial institutions in the county as to the part they took in he great world war, but none are reported from Charleroi.

OUTHFUL OFFENDERS ARE HELD FOR COURT

The three boys concerned in the theft of produce and fruit from the Monack warehouse on Tuesday night, and who were later arrested by the local police, were given a hearing before Justice Paul Nutt on Friday afternoon, and on their own admission of guilt, were held in $300 bail each for their appearance for court. The boys were remanded to the lockup, and unless the parents furnish bail, the boys will be taken to jail at Washington. The boys are aged about 16 years.

The Child's Conservation League has discontinued its meetings for the summer. The fall and winter sessions will be opened on the first Tuesday in September, with a meeting at the Elks Club.

After all some pleasures are still inexpensive, as the New York woman who was fined only $1 for beating her husband can testify.

RESUME SUNDAY BALL GAMES AT FAYETTE CITY

The management of the Fayette City base ball teams has announced that ball games will be resumed on Sunday at that place, beginning tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, fast time. Manager Henry Wilson has announced that a number of new players have been secured, and that the team expects to get away to a good start. Louis and Bill Phillips of Charleroi will be in the lineup, with Garnis, who was hurt early in the season at short, with Bennie Costello behind the bat. Termant will pitch for Fayette City and Hauser or Young for Ambridge, the team which will oppose them.

FAREWELL RECEPTION TO NEWCOMER FAMILY

The farewell reception tendered to Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Newcomer and family of Monessen, at the First Christian church, on Friday evening by the congregation of that church, was all that the promoters had hoped for. It was an occasion of mirth and merriment, as well as one of sadness, for the members of the congregation realized that in the departure of Mr. Newcomer and his family the church was losing a conscientious and consistent worker, one who never allowed any circumstances to stand in the way of doing something for the church of his choice.

Miss Lura Wingett was master of ceremonies for the evening, and under her direction an interesting program was rendered, in which the opening number was "America," in which the entire assembly joined. This was followed by a violin solo by Miss Callie Bell, a piano solo by Wilbur Scott, who also later favored the assembly with a vocal solo, a solo by Master Dwight Bowers, and a reading by little Miss Edna Bowers; a vocal duet by Miss Corwin and Miss Carnahan; and a selection by a quartet composed of Wilbur Scott, Mrs. Charles VanVoorhis, Mrs. Carl Corwin and David Stewart.

John D. Berryman was also on the program for an address, follow-

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR CHARLES M. ROE

The funeral services for C. M. Roe were held at the residence of Mrs. Roe's father, Rev. James Law, pastor of the West End Methodist Episcopal church, at 602 Main street, West End, Pittsburg, Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The services were in charge of Rev. E. G. Greenlee, pastor of the Chareroi M. E. church, of the official board of which Mr. Roe was a member. Rev. Hastings a former pastor, and Dr. W. S. Lockhart, superintendent of the Pittsburg District of the M. E. church, assisted. Interment was at Uniondale cemetery, North Side, Pittsburg.

Donora's Population Placed At 14,121 by Census Bureau

Figures issued by the census bureau on Friday give the population of Donora as 14,121, an increase during the past ten years of 5,957, or 72.9 per cent. These official figures places Donora as the second town in point of population in Washington county. The towns of the county now stand, Washington first, Donora second, Charleroi third, Canonsburg fourth and Monongahela fifth.

The increase in Donora's population is not any larger than anticipated, in fact the people of that town are likely to be somewhat disappointed, as they expected the town to go over 15,000, but that has been the general experience of all communities, the realization has not measured up to the expectation. However, the big steel town has made rapid strides during the past ten years, and particularly since 1915, the year the big zinc mill was erected. With the addition of other big mills which have been promised to thetown the growth during the next decadepromises to far exceed the increase during the one just past.

Donora, like other towns in this section of the valley, has suffered, and is suffering now from a shortage of houses in which to accommodate those who desire to live in the town by reason of the fact that their work is there. Not being able to be accommodated in that borough they must seek accommodations elsewhere, and as a consequence there are hundreds of workmen who are employed in the mills at that point but who live in other localities. If Donora overcomes this handicap its increase in numbers will be a matter of course.

Each officer or enlisted man serving in the First Army area between August 30, and Nov. 11, 1918, or in the Second Army area between October 12 and November 11, 1918, will be entitled to defensive sector clasp, irrespective of awards for major operations. COMPANY A WAS MUSTERED INTO SERVICE

Company A, 10th Regiment, of the new National Guard of Pennsylvania, was mustered into the service of the State at the armory Monongahela, on Thursday evening. Major William Fish of Beaver, who served with the 110th in France, was the mustering officer, and Capt. James Gee, also a world war veteran, paraded the Company to take the oat. The maximum strength of the Company under the new regulations is 110 men, and Capt. Gee hopes to have that many men enlisted before the Guard goes into camp at Mt. Gretna on the 30th of July.

MARIANNA WILL RETAIN HIGH SCHOOL

The West Bethlehem high school, which has been somewhat fluctuating in its location, will remain at Marianna, according to a recent decision of the school board of that township. Some months ago it was decided to mave the high school from Marianna back to Scenery Hill but at a recent meeting of the board the decision was reversed.

The high school issue was fought out at the election last fall, and directors were elected who, it was believed, would favor the removal of the school back to Scenery Hill. It now appears, however, that the majority of the members of the board favor having the school remain at Marianna and plans for the next school year have been made accordingly.

CHAUTAUQUA IS FREE ON SUNDAY

The Board of Trade has arranged with the Redpath Chautauqua management to have both afternoon and evening sessions of theChautauqua open to every one on Sunday. This gives opportunity for all to see and hear two of the finest kind of programs and to see what a great feature event the Chautauqua really is.

It is believed that hundreds more season tickets will be taken when the people realize that the best musical lecturing and entertaining talent in the land is on the Charleroi program.

A free-will offering will be taken from those who are not ticket holders on Sunday. You and your friends should attend both Sunday sessions.

Notice, Lady Maccabees.

All members of the Lady Maccabees who are interested in drill work are urged to be present at a meeting to be held in the hall at the corner of Eighth street and Lookout avenue, Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock sharp. By order of Captain, Mrs. Schwer.

LOCAL CHAUTAUQUA WILL OPEN SUNDAY AFTERNOON

ORDERS PILE UP FASTER THAN THEY ARE FILLED

Although the price of all Ford Motor Company products was advanced March 3rd, orders have continued to stack up faster than they could be filled. At the present time there are 229,000 unfilled orders on file at the parent plant, together with a large foreign demand that is not being met. Speaking generally, the advance was $50 on the open cars and $100 on closed cars. The new prices are, runabout, regular, $550; runabout with starter, $625; touring car, regular, $575, with starter, $650; coupe with starter and demountable rims, $850; sedan with starter and demountable rim, $975.

TRAINED BIRDS AT THE CHAUTAUQUA

For more than a quarter of a century the name Pamahasika has been a synonym for the best and most remarkable in animal and bird training. He is justly recognized as America's most successful animal and bird educator. People marvel at his genius and at the amazing results. His entertainment is a wonderful demonstration of what judgment, patience, kindness and ingenuity can do.

Years of painstaking training have been required to produce one of the greatest troupes of educated pets the world has ever seen. It seems almost impossible for animals to perform such a variety of difficult tricks and to do them in such an intelligent manner.

For nearly thirty years Pamahasika has been educating birds and animals, and today he presents one of the best entertainments of the kind ever given in America. His troup consists of Australian White Cockatoos, Australian Rosa Cocatoos, Brazilian Giant Macaws, White Arabian Doves, Japanes Fantail Pigeons, Mourning Turtle Doves, Canary Birds, House Cats, Persian Cats, Angora cats, a pony, a monkey and dogs.

One of the greatest bird features ever presented is a miniature battle scene from the late world war. During the battle the birds fire cannon and when the fort bursts into a blaze the fire company responds, raises ladders, turns over a water tank and extinguishes the fire. Then comes the victory, the German flag is hauled down and the American flag is run up.

This splendid feature will be given at the local Chautauqua on the afternoon of the last day, July 3, and wil be a wonderful attraction for the children. The Board of Trade is sponsor for the entertainments this year and asks the support of the people by the purchaseoftickets for the entire course.

If the two American political parties were what their opponents say they are, we should be between the devil and the dep sea. Fortunately it is not quite so bad as that.

College Singing Girls Will Be the Attraction for Initial Session

SEVEN GREAT DAYS OF PLEASURE

Charleroi's Chautauqua will open at The Pines tomorrow afternoon for a seven-day session, and the management promises the people of the community a series of splendid entertainments. The introductory ceremonies tomorrow afternoon will be quite brief, after which the College Singing Girls will give an excellent musical program. With refreshing enthusiasm this company presents selections from grand and light opera, popular numbers and the happy-go-lucky songs of college life. Character impersonations and readings are also featured. Many changes of costume are introduced in their programs on Chautauqua opening day, one of the most brilliant being used in a group of Scottish numbers.

In the evening they will give the prelude to the lecture to be given by Roscoe Gilmore Stott, who will speak on "The Man's-Size Job." His humorous and dramatic sallies make him one of the livest wires connected with foot-lights. He contributes verse, humor, short stories and articles to the Ladies' Home Journal, Life, Leslie's, Judge and many other national periodicals. His lecture success seems to have equalled or bettered his other achievements.

And in the meantime, while a tempting array of mental pabulum is being prepared for our edification, let us not forget that in order to make the Chautauqua a financial success it will require that 750 adult tickets be sold, in order to raise the amount of the guarantee. The local Board of Trade is sponsor for the entertainment and must raise the amount of guarantee, which they wish to do by the sale of tickets to the people of this and surrounding communities. Tickets good for the entire week will sell for $2.75, which includes war tax, childrens which includes thewar tax, childrens tickets at half price.

The Chautauqua is one of those institutions that give a better moral and educational tone to a community. More than that, they serve as a community center for the week, where any and all who are so inclined can spend many delightful hours, not only in the society and companionship of friends, but likewise in drinking in some of the best intellectual feasts to be found in the country. Many of us cannot get away during thesummer, but there be few of us who cannot afford the price of a ticket which will give us the privilege of enjoying all the splendid offerings in the gift of the Chautauqua. We are not only helping the Board of Trade when we buy a ticket we are helping the community and ourselves.

Lend a hand.

WHERE COOLIDGE LIVES

Sunday newspapers of the larger cities during the past ten days devoted much space to sketches of the two Republican candidates, Messrs. Harding and Coolidge, says the Washington Observer. Everything that was written of them was interesting as is always the case of men of humble origin winning high place in public affairs. But of all that was printed the picture of the home of Governor Coolidge was most eloquent accompanied as it was by the inscription, "Home of Governor Coolidge, half of this double house, for which he pays $32 a month rent."

This is not ony good campaign material, as illustrating the simple tastes and modest income of the candidate for vice president. but it points a moral for all of us. prone as the best of us are to be far more ostentatious than is good for us.

Here we have the Governor of a great State not ashamed to live in "half of a double house for which he pays $32 per month rent." The picture indicates that the Governor is getting no special bargain in the matter of rental. The house is not unlike many to be found in any town in Pennsylvania. Thirty-two dollars don't buy much more in the way of house rent in New England than it does in Pennsylvania, which is only another way of saying that the Governor's home is about as good as the ordinary dwelling in our own town.

Governor Coolidge's example is one that all of us should consider. Instead of moving into a masion the moment he came into a salary that would permit him to have one of the big houses in his home town, he continues to live quietly and modestly as he has always done. In that he differs from most of us. It is one of the economic sins of America that almost universally an increase in pay is a call for more expensive plans of living. We have somehow come to the belief that we must spend money in order to make a show and that by making a show we signal our success to the world, and so place ourselves advantageously to attract further preferment at the hands of our fellows. Governor Coolidge and his modest home are proof positive that the world is not attracted so much by glitter and display as most of us imagine. The Governor lives in a modest house in a modest way and his deeds rather than his means have drawn the attention of his fellow countrymen to him. The dollar mark. it is true, is very often a sign of success. but we don't hang it in the parlor window of a brownstone front or paint it in monogram form on the side of a costly limousine, for in many cases the least we say about it the louder money will talk in quarters where it will do the most good. Thrift is a better advertisement than extravagance and merit is as easily recognizable in a modest home as in a mansion.

KNOWS NO GEOGRAPHICAL LINES

The death of three negroes at the hands of a mob in Duluth, Minn., calls to mind once more the well known fact that the lynching of negroes for attacking white women and sometimes for murder is confined to no section of this country. The Pulitzer prize for the best editorial written in 1919 was awarded recently to the editor of the Omaha World-Herald who on September 30 of last year discussed the Omaha mob that on the day before lynched a negro for attacking a white woman and not only stormed the jail but burned the courthouse. Not a great while before there had been violent anti-negro riots in both Chicago and Washington. Such anti-negro outbreaks caused by attacks on white women, or murder in aggravated form or by industrial disturbances when negroes were used as strike breakers have occurred from time to time in many parts of the Middle West and Northwest and occasionally even in the East.

The habit of associating lynchings with the South, and their relatively more frequent occurrence in that section, are due merely to the fact that the bulk of the negro population is found there and the crimes leading to lynching are therefore inevitably more numerous. The only difference between the mob violence of the North and of the South is that usually the rage of the Southern mob is satisfied to vent itself upon the guilty individual negro, while in the North and West the mob's rage is apt to extend itself to the blacks in general, sometimes all of them in a given community being attacked on sight and driven out of the town or neighborhood.

KIDNAPPING RICHLINGS

The envy of the rich, which among social revolutionists seems to partake also of enmity, is to a large extent based on the subconscious assumption that riches safeguard their possessors not only from hard labor but from misfortune. Of course such an assumption is childisly absurd. Money brings a certain amount of power, it provides fine food, clothing and shelter, and secures some pleasures ordinarily out of reach, but it fails to insure against many sorrows and even invites misfortune of a kind from which the poor and moderately circumstanced are practically safe. For example, only the children of the rich are even kidnapped for ransom. The great mass of American parents are happily free from a danger which must be more and more a very nightmare of terror to the fathers and mothers of wealthy families.

To the anguishing concern for the kidnapped child of a rich man is added the agony of indecision as to what course to pursue—whether to trust to the police and detectives under threats of bodily harm to the child, or to agree to the kidnapper's proposal that the ransom be paid according to directions given, trusting that a fiend in human shape will then return the stolen child. In the latest case of this sort the grief-stricken parents chose the latter course and placed $12,000 at the designated point only to fail to receive their child in return. the probable object of the kidnapper being to continue extortions to the limit of the last cent and perhaps even then play false owing to the danger involved in returning the child to its home. Without similar experience none of us can fully understand the feelings of parents in such circumstances. but many of us can see the need of hanging caught and convicted kidnappers.

TROUBLES OF THEIR OWN

Democratic newspapers, which a few weeks ago were giving considerable space to promoting dissensions in the ranks of the Republican party, can now give their undivided attention to their own doorstep. If reports from the west are accurate the D. O. P. is going to have plenty of trouble in reconciling the diversified wings of the "unterrified," each of which appears to have some particular hobby which it wishes incorportaed in the platform.

It also develops that a number of those high in the council of the party in the past and present have views that do not coincide with those of President Wilson, who has set himself up as the "leader" of the Democracy. William F. McCombs, chairman of the Democratic National Committee which had charge of the Wilson campaign in 1913 takes sharp issue with Mr. Wilson on this point, as well as on other features which are apt to come up to trouble the Democrats in their national convention.

William Jennings Bryan is going to be a thorn in the flesh to many of the delegates for he has given out that he will fight for a "dry" plank in the platform, and this will meet with considerable opposition. Then the eague of Nations will be another bone of contention, which promises to arouse considerable acrimonious debate, with the result doubtful. Altogether, the Democracy is going to have a very strenuous time in San Francisco, and is apt to experience some trouble in smoothing out the many differences that now appear on the surface.

LABOR SHORTAGE

It is estimated by some authorities that the United States is short about 4,000,000 industrial workers. This shortage has been apparent for some time, but if a great number of those already employed were not turning out luxuries the supply of labor would be adequate. It is pointed out that the output of automobiles was never greater than at the present time, drawing thousands of men by the lure of good wages from many other walks of life in order to supply the heavy demand being made for machines. Other lines of luxuries take thousands more of the workers of the country, producing many things which, while desirable, could be put aside for the time being at east. The producing capacity of the country is only about so much. You can't get the necessities if people are determined to have the necesities.

NO THIRD PARTY

Henry L. Stoddard in the New York Mail, in speaking of political conditions just now, says: —"There is not going to be any room in this campaign for third ticket propositions. This fight is to be 1896 over again. That year, you may recall was the disappearing time for the 'Sickless' Jerry Simpsons and the Peffers, who had been running wild out Kansas way, creating an impression them as the forty-eighters, are trying to do now, that the 'lunatic fringe' runs any deeper or wider among the people than a narrow band around the outer circle."

United States Senator Reed, of Missouri, will not be an acceptable delegate at the Democratic National convention, even though his home district has twice seected him for that important position. The State Democratic Commitee of Missouri gave the honorable James the first bowling over, but he came right back with another home endorsement and is going to take the question before the national convention. They may give the Missouri Senator "the gate," but you can rest assured they will hear from him if they do.

If Governor Coolidge shares with Vice-President Marshall the happy possession of a sense of humor, he no doubt hugely enjoyed Mr. Marshall's telegram of condolence in lieu of one of congratulation: "Please accept my sincere sympathy."

Formerly foreign editors took little interest in an American Presidential election, but they have given much space to the nomination of Senator Harding. The change is due to what two million American soldiers did in France.

HUNDREDS OF BARRELS OF BEER DESTROYED

Sixteen hundred barrels of beer, valued at more than $30,000, was poured into the sewer at the plant of the Windber Brewing company at Windber on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. The destruction of the beer was in charge of a revenue officer, who deemed it no violation of the Volstead act to give a glass of the beverage to the guest who were present.

One man was severely gassed at the time Sharpnack was overcome, but he has recovered.

INTEREST DAY WAS GLADLY WELCOMED

Millions of people welcomed Tuesday, the 15th day of June, which was interest day on some of the issues of war bonds. The total amount of interest paid on that date was 143,-240,000. This is a handsome sum to come to the people of this country as a result of the patriotic investment of their savings. It is just that much more than they would have had if they had not denied themselves and made an effort to save and lend the government the mony in order to win the war. Now they have a rich reward for their self-denial and their service to the country.

Interest payments like this coming along every few months furnish the best possible evidence that the government is keeping its contract with the people. No matter what the market price may be, the amount of interest is always the same and always paid promptly and for the full amount.

ing which Mrs. J. K. Mitchell in a neat and appropriate remarks, presented Mrs. Newcomer with a beautiful fur seal bag, to which the recipient made a very feeling response. Theo. J. Allen on behalf of the men then presented Mr. Newcomer with a handsome traveling set, to which Mr. Newcomer responded, speaking at some length on his relations with the church and in which he referred in a feeling manner to the pleasant relations which had always existed between him and the members of the congregation.

At the conclusion of the program the entire assembly adjourned to the basement, and arranged themselves in three large circles around the room, when refreshments were served by the ladies. After refreshments the room was turned over to the children to play games, in which many of the older folks, becoming enthused with the spirit of the occasion, heartily joined. It was a late hour when the assembly adjourned, but all left feeling that it was good to be there.

JUDGE McCARRELL A NATIVE OF CLAYSVILLE

His father was Rev. Dr. Alexander McCarrell and his mother Martha McClain McCarrell. His father was a Presbyterian minister and pastor of the Claysville Presbyterian church for 35 years, until he was taken by death. Judge McCarrell had three brothers, all of whom were ministers in the Presbyterian church and all of them held important changes, the only surviving brother being at the present time pastor of the Presbyterian church at Mechanicsburg, Pa. the family was of Scotch descent, and his great grandfathers on both sides fought in the revoluntionary war.

PITTSBURG STEEL GIVES DONATION TO HOSPITAL

The Pittsburg Steel company a few weeks ago gave a very generous donation to the Memorial Hospital of Monongahela, which recently conducted a campaign to raise a fund of $20,-000 for the purpose of making some very much needed improvements in that institution. The steel company gave their check for the sum of $5,-000, which the campaign committee gratefully acknowledged. It is expected that contributions from other industrial plants will bring the total amount of contributions up to the desired $20,000.

MALTAS TO HOLD BIG OUTING AT KENNYWOOD

The eighth annual outing of the Knights and Dames of Malta will be held at Kennywood Park, Saturday, July 24, at which time a grand review of the uniform rank of the order will be held on the ball field, as well as a competitive drill between selected companies of the order. The Dames of Malta will hold their competitive drill at 4 o'clock the same afternoon, while the grand review of uniform rank will be held at 5 o'clock Commanderies from the Monongahela valley will be well represented at the outing.

FOREIGN BORN RESIDENTS COMPLETE NATURALIZATION

Twenty-five foreign born residents of Washington county were admitted to full citizenship at the naturalization court held in Washington this week, while nine applications were held over and three dismissed. The court was held before Judge James I. Brownson by George West, an examiner from the naturalization bureau of Pittsburg. The next hearing will be held September 27. Among the applicants granted were three residents from North Charleroi and one from Charleroi.

PEOPLE URGED TO MAKE MORE GARDENS

People of Pennsylvania, last week, were again urged to take up "war gardening" because of the possibility of a food shortage next winter and spring, by Dr. J. G. Sanders, chief of the State Bureau of Plant Industry, in a statement issued after summarizing reports on farming conditions in various counties.

"The need of 'Victory' gardens is as great in Pennsylvania now as was the need for 'war' gardens in 1918," said Dr. Sanders, who said special attention should be given to the crops which could be kept for winter use, especially beets, late potatoes turnips, cabbage, sweet corn and certain kinds of beans.

These crops, he said, can still be planted in time to mature for preservation. Conditions in sections where there are large truck farms show labor to be very short, with little prospects of obtaining hands. "To delay work now will result in a short crop," said Dr. Sanders.

NEW SIGNS FOR ROADS IN FORESTS

Gifford Pinchot, the State's chief forester, has announced that the principal roads through the Pennsylvania State Forests will be posted with conspicuous signs this summer. The signs will be large enough for motorists traveling 35 miles an hour to read them easily. They will be painted in white letters on a green background on sheet iron. Two inscriptions will be used on the signs—one group reading, 'Pennsylvania State Forest, You are Welcome, Be Careful With Fire." The other type of sign reads, "Carelessness Destroyed this Forest;Be Careful with Fire." The latter sign will be posted in areas burned over by forest fires. One hundred and eighty-two signs will be placed throughout the State forests. They vary in size from 8x9 feet to 30x36 inches. The large signs will be posted along the State highways and the smaller signs along woods, roads and trails.

DECISION IS PROMISED BY 20TH OF JULY

It has been announced that the Railway Labor Board will announce a decision on the wage demands of the railroad men by the 20th of July, the award to be retoractive to the first of May. It is intimated the increase granted will be approximately 22 per cent. It is hoped that with the announcement of the awards that the various strikes now in ecect at a number of railroad yards throughout the country will come to an end. Present railroad conditions are interfering with the movement of foodstuffs and fuel, and once the wage question is settled, it is anticpated that a geat deal of the friction between employed and employe will be removed.

MAKING PROGRESS IN CLEANING UP ROADWAY

The Allegheny county road department is making very satisfactory progress in clearing the obstruction from the concrete road along the river opposite Monongahela. A steam shovel has been in operation a few days and has cleared away a lot of the debris. However, it yet remains to ascertain how much of the concrete roadway has been damaged before the shovel can be used in removing all of the dirt. The retaining was swept out clean for a distnce of at least one hundred feet, and it will have to be entirely replaced. It will be some time before the road is open to public travel.

The statement that more wheels are returning in America than ever before is somewhat modified by the fact that 28,000,000 of them are rubber-tired.

"I FEEL THIRTY YEARS YOUNGER SINCE TAKING REESE FORMULA R-11," DECLARES P. S. BUCHANNON OF THE NORFOLK AND WESTERN RAILWAY

Is Able to Come Down Stairs After Taking Half Bottle of R-11. Remarkable Results Obtained Due Solely to the Reese Formula He Says

Mr. P. S. Buchannon, who is connected with the Norfolk and Western [illegible] on Albermarle Street, Bluefield, W. Va., was laid up with his stomach and after effects of the Flu. He took one bottle of The Reese Formula R-11 and was able to come down stairs and attend to his work.

In a statement Mr. Buchannon tells in detail of the good received from Formula R-11 and his honest opinion of its merits.

"I have been suffering from my stomach and general weakened condition brought on by a severe attack of the Flu which I barely survived. My system was so run down that I don't believe I would ever have been well again but for The Reese Formula R-11. I bought a bottle of this wonderful medicine from the Godykoontz Drug Store and before I had finished the bottle I was able to go down stairs and what is more I feel better than I have for years. Why I feel at least thirty years younger already. There is nothing I can say for The Reese Formula R-11 that is too good for it. I know it will help others as it has helped me and I will do all in my power to acquaint all my friends with its merits."

If you wish further information, write direct to our Medical Adviser, Medical Department, The Reese Formula Co., Huntington, W. Va.

The Reese Formula R-11 has been doing for hundreds just what it did for Mr. Buchannon. If you suffer from stomach, liver or kidney trouble, if your system is all run down from the Flue, get a bottle of Reese Formula R-11 today from your druggist or from Hennings Drug Store.

PREPARING TO RAISE THE STEAMER VESTA

Navigation was held up for a time today at Allenport, to permit the Vesta Coal company to pull the sunken steamer Vesta to one side that she may be bulkheaded. Assisting in the work will be the steamer Vulcan of the Vesta line, and the Edgar Thomson and the Wm. Whigham of the Carnegie line. To get the boat in the place desired by the owners, it was found it would be necessary for the boats to pull from the Washington county side of the stream, which made it necessary to close the river for a short time.

The bulkheading operations are expected to take two or three d[illegible] it will probably be a week before the boat will be raised. The Vesta [illegible] badly wrecked, most of her upper works having been torn away. She will be taken to the marine ways at Floreffe, where she will be completely overhauled and made ready for further service.

ANNUAL MOTHER'S MEETING AT WASHINGTON AVE. CHURCH

The annual Mothers' Meeting of the Washington Avenue Presbyterian church was held in the Sunday school room of the church Friday evening, and it proved to be, as ever, an enjoyable occasion. Each young lady was privileged to bring her own or an adopted mother, and the evening is one pleasantly anticipated throughout the year. Last night the program was varied, wih the president, Miss Bess Richey, in charge. Miss Bethel Bowman contributed a piano solo and was followed by a vocal trio by the Misses Emma Clutter, Blanche Allison and Mrs. John H. Clutter. Miss Nell Ryland gave a reading and Miss Blanche Allison a vocal solo, followed by Miss Mary Welsh, who gave a reading. Mrs. John Metz then contributed a vocal solo, after which Rev. Mr. Burson gave a memorial address that was personal and that brought back many faces of other days. The social hour proved to be a source of good fellowship and the evening closed, with a member who has not missed a meeting in many years, Miss Grace Gelder, who is on a visit with friends in Boston. The decorations were in yellow and white and these colors were carrid out in all the appointments of the evening. co-operation in enforcing them.

COUNTRY CLUB IS AMONG THE FINEST

Final work being done on the golf links of the Monongahela Valley Country Club on Thursday, and the excellent garssing of the greens during the month to date leads the members of the club to believe that the course will be among the best in the country. This afternoon it is expected that a large number of members of the Club will go to the grounds for the purpose of assisting in cleaning up a lot of the debris which has accumulated during the construction period and renovating the premises. There is much work to be done along this line, and the members are there prepared to do some very rough work.

Quite a number of Club members have been busy with golf under instructions from Mr. Sloan, the professional, and it is anticipated the latter part of the summer will see links kept quite busy. The view from the club house is magnificent, and the location is one that is easy of access to the members who live [illegible] in Monongahela, Donora, Monessen and Charleroi.

THE TWO OLD PARTIES AS SEEN FROM A DISTANCE

A "Subscriber" to The Mail gives the political situation from a poetical standpoint, and sends in the following contribution:

In a conclave good and strong
The Republcans did meet,
And nominated Harding and Coolidge
A pair that's hard to beat.
Not one word was spoken
Either for wet or dry
For what is the use of rehashing
A thing that has legally died.
The Democrats God bless them
They have taken up the song
For beer, wine and other goods
To make their party strong
But what's the use dear brothers
That issue now is dead
The Supreme Court has it buried
And for God's sake shut your head
For there is other issues greater
And the people will demand
That a sane observance of all laws
Shall full respect command.
